II. Organization Review

About NBAA

The NBAA has been serving the business aviation community since 1947. It has been in the forefront of efforts aimed at fairly settling problems related to air space access, airports and aircraft noise. NBAA is focused on issues such as aviation safety, operational efficiency, fair and equal access, FAA reform, noise and compatible land use, peak hour landing fees, reliever airports, air support, air traffic control modernization, product liability reform, research and development, business aviation advocacy and various tax issues.

As the world of aviation has become more global, NBAA is at the forefront of international issues such as an international aviation policy and improvement and standardization of global air traffic systems.

The Association now provides assistance to 11,000 Member Companies that earn annual revenues of approximately $5 trillion – a number that exceeds 50 percent of the gross national product – and employs more than 19 million people worldwide. NBAA has a budget of $52 million and a staff of 93.

NBAA collects, interprets and disseminates operational and managerial data related to the safe, efficient and cost-effective use of business aircraft. The Association is the focal point for identifying and understanding advances in technology and procedures important to the business aviation community.

Mission

To foster an environment that allows business aviation to thrive in the United States and around the world.

Statement of Purpose

Founded in 1947 and based in Washington, DC, the National Business Aviation Association (NBAA) is the leading organization for companies that rely on general aviation aircraft to help make their businesses more efficient, productive and successful. The association represents more than 11,000 companies and provides more than 100 products and services to the business aviation community, including the NBAA Business Aviation Convention & Exhibition, the world's largest civil aviation trade show.

Membership

For over 60 years, the business aviation community has looked to NBAA as its leader in enhancing safety and security, shaping public policy, providing world-renowned industry events and advancing the business aviation goals of 11,000 Member Companies.

NBAA's comprehensive benefits and services provide Members with the tools they need to learn about operational, technical and legislative issues, stay on top of regulatory requirements and changes, improve their management skills, network with peers, become involved with local, national and international business aviation communities, make their voices heard by government and all levels, advance their careers and help their businesses succeed.

Membership Categories

NBAA has four categories of membership:

- Corporate Members own or operate United States registered aircraft, primarily not for hire, as a transportation aid in the conduct of its business or activities and meets a set of qualifications.

- Business Members own or operate United States registered aircraft, primarily not for hire, as an aid to the conduct of its business or activities and meets a set of qualifications.
- Associate Members derive at least 50% of their total sales volume from the field of business aviation without meeting the qualifications for Corporate or Business Membership or Affiliate status, or they have a pervasive interest in business aviation.
- Affiliate meets the qualifications for Corporate or Business Membership, except they operate aircraft registered exclusively outside the United States.

NBAA Leadership Council

The National Business Aviation Association (NBAA) Leadership Council is made up of individuals and businesses as diverse as the business aviation community itself. These companies all have one attribute in common – they have chosen to become Leadership Council investors with NBAA.

The NBAA Leadership Council significantly strengthens the Association, allowing NBAA to reinforce its mission as an organization committed to promoting an environment that fosters business aviation in the U.S. and around the world.

Conventions

NBAA'S Business Aviation Convention & Exhibition

Ranked as the third largest trade show in the United States, the NBAA Business Aviation Convention & Exhibition (NBAA-BACE) will be held Oct. 16–18, 2018, in Orlando, Florida, bringing together current and prospective aircraft owners, manufacturers and customers into one meeting place to get critical work accomplished. It is estimated that attendance this year will be over 25,000 industry professionals for the most important three days of business aviation.

The European Business Aviation Convention & Exhibition (EBACE)

The European Business Aviation Convention & Exhibition (EBACE) is a premier event and the annual meeting place for the European business aviation community. The exhibition brings together more than 13,000 attendees (business leaders, government officials, manufacturers, flight department personnel, avionics firms, fractional providers, charter/lease companies and all manner of people involved in nearly every aspect of business aviation) and more than 400 exhibitors with 50 business aircraft on static display.

EBACE is jointly hosted each year by the European Business Aviation Association (EBAA), the leading association for business aviation in Europe, and the National Business Aviation Association (NBAA), the leading voice for the business aviation industry in the United States. EBACE will be held May 21 – 23, 2019. Although EBACE is the only major European event focused solely on business aviation, attendees come from as far as Africa, Asia, the Middle East and North and South America.

The Asian Business Aviation Conference & Exhibition

The Asian Business Aviation Conference & Exhibition (ABACE) will be held at Shanghai Hongqiao International Airport at the Shanghai Hawker Pacific Business Aviation Service Centre from April 16-18, 2019. In partnership with Shanghai Airport Authority (SAA) and co-hosted by the NBAA-ABACE China Limited and ABACE LLC and the Asian Business Aviation Association (AsBAA), ABACE is Asia's premier business aviation event.

ABACE has proven to be a high-value event, attracting entrepreneurs, wealth creators, aircraft-purchase decision makers and other high-level attendees from China and across Asia. Since its launch in 2012, ABACE has rapidly grown to over 9,000 attendees from 50+ countries around the world, 165 exhibitors, 35 business aircraft on static display and more than 300 members of the media.

Advocacy

NBAA is dedicated to representing business aviation before policymakers at the state, federal and local level. NBAA's team of professionals advocate for Association Members' interests through daily contact with Members of Congress, as well as officials at the White House, the Federal Aviation Administration, the Department of Homeland Security, the Transportation Security Administration, the Department of Transportation, the IRS, Customs and Border Protection and other federal and local government representatives.

NBAA keeps Members informed about issues of importance to the business aviation community and urges individuals to make their voices heard among elected officials and decision-makers at the local, state and federal level.

Throughout its history, NBAA has worked to support policies that foster business aviation in the United States and around the world. Among the policy priorities for the Association and the industry it represents are modernization of the nation's aviation system, building upon the already outstanding safety record for business aviation and preserving secure access to airports and airspace.
